 WOW: Twin Rose Lady Riders Chapter

Greetings Roses & Friends,

Thank you to those who came to our last indoor meeting. Conewago Inn was lovely. Great service and food. They were so nice to host our anniversary party, we were happy to give them our business.

For International Female Ride Day on May 4, there are two choices. The "Biker Babes No Drama" group lost one of their own this winter. Sue Doremus was a lovely person. She rode with us for one of the Women's Carnival Rides a few years ago. Her group will be having a memorial for Sue on IFRD. If you are interested in participating, please contact Kathy M.

We will also be offering a ride to (hopefully) meet up with the other Women On Wheels chapters. If you are interested, please contact Dawn H or me. We'll have lunch and (of course) ice cream. Details to come.

Women on Wheels sent us a flag and brochures to recruit new members. Please let me know if this is something you would like to do.

Kathy M, Kathy R and I are going to the Lace, Grace and Gears women's rally in September at Johnson City, TN. It's been a bit since I've ridden to Tennessee and I'm excited to be going back. What beautiful scenery and wonderful motorcycle roads. Vinegar pie, anyone? We would love for any and all to accompany us.

And—last but not least—OUR FIRST RIDE IS APRIL 14!
I've had little opportunity to ride this winter, so I'm hoping for great weather! I know I don't have to say it, because you are all experienced riders, but... Please be sure to check your air pressure before heading out.

Take care and be safe!

Natalie

Open Forum:

Nat adjourned the meeting at 12:15. Next meeting we ride!

- Sue S, Secretary

During Women's History Month I was thinking about my female heroes.

Denise McLuggage was an international racer in the 50s-60s (Le Mans, Sebring, Monte Carlo...) driving Ferraris and Porsches and winning in a man's sport. Here she is surrounded by a who's who in racing including Fangio, Moss, Gurney... And she dated Steve McQueen before he became a star!

I've always idolized Michele Mouton, a French international rally driver. In 1981 she ran the Monte Carlo Rally with a female navigator and all female crew. Here she is winning at Pikes Peak.

Then there is Wendy Crockett, the first female to win the Iron Butt. She also earned a Guinness World Record in 2022 riding 100,000 miles in 150 days facing epic odds where "everything that could possibly go wrong went spectacularly wrong."

Her diary of the odyssey, Pushing Miles, is well worth the read!

I've never aspired to long distance riding but admire her resourcefulness, stamina, and grit.

Who are your female heroes?

A Couple of Roses in the Big Easy

by Nat

So, one thing everyone knows about me is that if you invite me – or even mention you are going somewhere and sort of, kind of invite me – I’ll probably show up. So, when Lynn mentioned that she would be camping in Alabama for a month in February, I may have done just that!

I was on 4 wheels and my first stop was Panama City for a great visit with my nephew and family. Dinner was at a local restaurant and included milkshakes served to your table by robot!

In true southern style, Lynn and I met up at Buckee’s. If you haven’t visited one of these establishments, I highly recommend it. I can attest that their 3-meat barbecue (turkey, sausage and brisket) sandwich is absolutely amazing!

Tuesday morning, we headed to New Orleans. Lynn has visited there before and convinced me that to truly experience the French Quarter, we needed to stay over. I am so glad she did. Not only did we do every tourist activity we could in 26 hours, but we also got to experience the area during every time of day. Trust me, New Orleans in late morning is very different from New Orleans in late night.

We started our experience by boarding a streetcar, rode the green line through the city and departed near the St Louis Cemetery. I was amazed at how different their cemeteries are.

Lunch was a Hurricane drink, gumbo, and a po’boy. Everything I could think of that screamed New Orleans’ cuisine.

After we checked into our beautiful room at the St Marie, I headed out to explore the French Quarter. I enjoyed wandering through some shops, seeing the street musicians, and happened upon a parade complete with stilt walkers!

Our Historic Ghost Tour did not reveal any ghosts, but I never knew how old or interesting New Orleans is! The French Quarter by moonlight is really different than the French Quarter by daylight. Lights, aggressive bouncers, friendly pizza workers, and amazing music coming out of the bars and nightclubs. Completely magical!

I spent the next morning drinking coffee and reading in the hotel’s beautiful courtyard. No visit to the big easy would be complete without Café Du Mond’s café au lait and beignets. We left covered in powdered sugar and quite full. While I visited the local fountain pen store (sigh), Lynn secured a carriage for a tour of the city.

A lovely, sweet, smart horse named Liz and her handler told us even more about the history of New Orleans. I found her insights on the architecture interesting and appreciated that the city is dedicated to preserving their history.

Lynn and I worked remotely for the next two days and enjoyed some fresh Gulf seafood in the evenings. Honestly, if you’ve ever had shrimp that was caught that morning, you might not look the same way at Red Lobster.

Lynn was a great hostess, not only sharing her camper, but the back seat of her Spyder too!

So be forewarned, if you invite me, or just even mention you’re going somewhere, I might show up!

Chapter Director Nat just hit a 10-year WOW® milestone.
Some other Twin Roses are long-time members, too:

- 31 Trish
- 27 NanC, Sue S & John, Dawn H, Bernie
- 25 Audrey Dawn, Sigi
- 22 JonC
- 16 Charlie
- 14 Lynn
- 10 Nat (Congrats!)

Suzy K and Trish enjoyed the York Motorcycle Club's PotPie supper. Sue S and John stopped in earlier for take-out. The place was jammed.
